UNIQUE GIFT GALLERY OPENED BY F.M. GROUPS

The holiday season is a time for renewing the spirit and for giving—and that's why we're sponsoring the Second Annual Resident Gift Show. The lobby in the Fort Mason Center offices in Building A has been transformed into a colorful holiday gift gallery, displaying the most unique and popular of the gift items offered by Fort Mason Center's resident non-profit organizations. Judging from the response thus far, we anticipate exceeding the success of last year's show.

For the first time, a selection of Fort Mason Center gift items will be available: Fort Mason Tea (made by Fortnum & Mason, Ltd.), a souvenir t-shirt with original design, postcards and a brand new poster. Those of you who are partial to Fort Mason Center will now be able to wear, share, or drink a memento of the place "where people make it happen."

The S.F. Bay Chapter of the Oceanic Society is showing gift items which reflect their care and concern for the sea. Among these are posters, t-shirts, note-cards and bandanas featuring the work of Pieter Arend Folkens, the celebrated marine animal artist. The Fund for Animals offers gifts to give your own pets which will also aid all the other animals this group supports and defends. Gift tickets to the productions of our resident theater groups are available for holiday giving, as are gift memberships in a number of the resident organizations.

The Guardsmen are conducting their annual Christmas tree sale, the proceeds going to send underprivileged children to camp. Eight species of trees plus wreaths, mistletoe and poinsettas make up the largest tree lot in Northern California—all indoors in Pier 3.

Colorful ornaments and objects d'art, carefully handcrafted by artisans from other cultures, are available through Folk Art International and the Mexican Museum.

T-shirts, posters, jewelry, toys, cards, books and more are all on display in the Fort Mason gift gallery. When you buy from a Fort Mason Center resident group you experience double satisfaction; because by giving that special and unusual gift, at the same time you are supporting a very worthy cause. The Second Annual Fort Mason Resident Gift Show is now underway in Building A, Monday through Saturday, from 9am to 5pm. Stop by, or call 441-5706 for further information.

RIVERA EXHIBITION RATES RAVES AT FMC

Rarely seen work by the master painter, Diego Rivera, is on view at the Mexican Museum until January 27, 1985. This exceptional collection of drawings, canvases and cartoons—more than thirty works—presents entirely different aspects of the artist's prodigious talent.

Viewers who have known Rivera principally for the great public murals in various major cities, or from the travelling show, "Diego Rivera, the Cubist Years," may now see some of his finest easel paintings and portraits, such as "Two Mexican Women and a Child" (1926), and the portait of Arthur Brown (1931), who was the architect of San Francisco's much admired City Hall. Included also are the rich assortment of Rivera memorabilia from Stanford's Hoover Institution displayed as adjunct to this show.

During his years here, Rivera executed the San Francisco Stock Exchange mural, the fresco at the San Francisco Art Institute, and, in 1940, a mural intended for the San Francisco City College library which was painted at Treasure Island as part of the Golden Gate International Exposition's "Art in Auction" show. This fresco, celebrating the melding of the cultural heritage of Mexico and North America, is now in the lobby area of the college auditorium—a 1961 building especially designed for the painting by architect Milton Pfleuger.

Fortunate viewers of the show at the museum can study at close hand the small sketches, such as "Woman with Corn," that reinforce one's sense of contained energy in the lines and images of this artist.

The Mexican Museum's gallery hours are 12:00—5:00, Wednesday through Sunday. Admission is $1.00.

FMC UPDATE

An exhibit of folk art nativity scenes from various regions of Mexico will be on display at the Mexican Museum through Jan. 6. The Museum is open Wed-Sun, noon-5pm in Bldg D.

AMATA, the Academy of Media & Theatre Arts, presents a Winter Theatre & Video Showcase 2-4:30pm on Saturday, Dec. 8. Students of AMATA's acting, music, theatre & video classes will present a collection of their work. Teachers & directors will be on hand to answer questions about AMATA program offerings.

Media Alliance rings in the holiday season and bids farewell to 1984. Come toast the new year at the Media Alliance Holiday Party & Open House on Thursday, Dec. 13 from 6-9pm.

The Oceanic Society hosts a Membership Open House Monday, Dec. 3 from 6:30-8:30pm. A multi-image slide show, "To Alaska by Kayak," will be presented by adventurer Clyde Winter.

This month the African-American Historical & Cultural Society showcases Dudley Randall, Poet Laureate of Detroit and founder of Broadside Press. On Saturday, Dec. 8, the Black Writers' Forum will host Randall from 1:30-3:30, followed by a poetry reading of works by the author from 4-5:30. Call 441-0640 for more information.

A Korean Art Exhibit and Sale is featured in Bldg. A, Dec 3-9 from 10am-9pm. All are invited to experience the simplicity and harmonious rhythm of nature through the Rev. Bumjoo Senim's Zen painting. Widely known and much respected in Korean art circles, the artist's unusual technique and manner of painting attracted a great deal of attention during his recent show in Los Angeles.
